Constantinopal(sic) Once upon a time, there was this exceedingly kind Sultan of Turkey, and when he entered the First World War, he did an exceedingly (make that 2 "e's") kind thing. He contacted all of the three most likely to be affected by him, and said very kind things to them. And two of those people wrote back. The kind reply of the two parties made the kind Sultan very pleased, but rather sad. The sadness was due to the non-reply of the third party. The Sultan was thus forced to form a rather displeasing foreign policy. And the Sultan said that if his letters continued to be unanswered, he would have to do some very unkind things. And they all lived happily ever after, except for one very misfortunate party.

Same Somewhere as last time- I don't mind telling you guys that John and I have an alliance... and I have a non-aggression pact with John. So watch it, John!

Moscow- Czar Ivan today approved the new punishment regulations for the Imperial Army. New penalties include the administering of smelling salts for fainting on parade, having one's name changed to Spiro Agnew for deserting to the enemy, and execution for talking about "going to the john".

Versailles to the other crowned heads of Europe- Let's face it, gang. We're in this for one thing: our names and prides. I am therefore announcing the touchstone of Franco policy in this game: anyone who mentions "Dear John" letters, or sends me a "Dear John" letter, will be stabbed the very next turn.

Dijou- There was once an itinnant (?) bean-curd salesman named Carr. He settled in Dijou after half a lifetime on the road, and set up a business where he could stay in one place, and raise a family. He decided to deal in plumbing supplies, especially reconditioned and recycled toilets. He went into business on a vacant patch of ground, and called it "Honest Carr's Used John Lot".

This is the postal Diplomacy 'zine, put out by John Hulland, R.R. # 4, Guelph, Ont., Canada, N1H 6J1. Subs are 7/$1, and game fees are $4 each. I have five regular slots still open.

Several of the players have been writing and asking if they owe me anything. The answer is yes, they owe me patience and possibly gratitude, but they don't owe me any monetary equivalent. When I adopted these games from Mark, he included a reasonable sum of money. Thus, I need not ask ye players for monetary assistance.

The Austrian A Vie is annihilated.

Supply Chart: (In this chart, I'm assuming that Italy owns Spain)

ENGLAND- Liv, Lon (2)

GERMANY- Mun, Kie, Ber, Den, Hol, Nwy, Swe, Bel, St.P, Mos, War, Vie, Par, Bre, Por, Edi (16) Build 3

ITALY- Mar, Ven, Rom, Nap, Spa (5)

TURKEY- Con, Ank, Smy, Bul, Gre, Rum (6) Remove 1

RUSSIA- Sev, Rum (2)

AUSTRIA- Tri, Bud, Ser (3)

Since the moves are (read- builds are) relatively simple, I am asking for both Winter and Spring 1909 moves. The deadline for these moves is Sat. Dec. 29, 1973. Moves may be made conditional on the build/removals.

But wait! Arnold Projansky has just called for a renewal of the offer to concede to Germany. I would suggest that all of you carefully consider this, as it obvious that Weber can get two centres in England alone (giving him 18, right there).

Press follows game 72FF.

1972 FFluf Prcss:

Moscow-Russia concedes all her territories to Turkey; that is, as much as you can grab before that greedy little (!) German puts his filthy paws all over clean Russian soil!

Edinburgh-(via the Czar)) The Loch Gletty monster was reportedly sighted not only once, but twice last fall and winter, near this Scottish stronghold.

Reports ranged from a horrible, slobbering, flame-spouting dragon over 1000 feet in length, to a mild-mannered red coloured block of wood.

How in the name of holy Hulland will we ever solve such a controversy? Or are we going to take a ~~fluffy~~ GI's word for it?

Paris- Our regrets to the Kaiser. We had a beautiful thing going, but the long lay-off changed all our thinking.

1972 Ivan Press:

Berlin- Dear Blair; sorry the game lasted so long. I really Didn't see any call for you to take London from Dear Mr. Fleming. Now I have to send some units your way...best hope for a concession; you may not last the entirety of the game. Best of luck. signed, da Kaiser.

London- At long last, the British Isles are once again free of the fascist Frenchmen (sounds good anyway)...

...In a spontaneous statement at Westminster Abbey, the Queen, choked up with emotion and great relief said,... "Those French bastards deserved everything they got!"

Liverpool- Mr. Heber, you are welcome to as many centres as you wish, in the event that you can't obtain all you need down South.

Caucasia- Swoyn the Swine vows that he will never concede to the Teutons! (However, what he says and what he does are often widely at variance...)

Guelph- The vote for a concession was asked for by Proujansky, and has support of Cusack and Leeder. How about it Lind and Gletty? I assume that Heber will vote yes...
